

DAVID O. RENZ, PH.D., Professor Emeritus of Nonprofit Leadership and Management and Director Emeritus, Midwest Center for Nonprofit Leadership, Henry W. Bloch School of Management, University of Missouri-Kansas City

David Renz is a nationally recognized expert and educator on nonprofit boards, governance and nonprofit organization leadership, and he is a frequent public speaker and workshop facilitator on these topics.

David teaches and conducts research on nonprofit and public service leadership and governance at the University of Missouri - Kansas City, and he works with public service organizations to strengthen their performance, quality and effectiveness.

Much of his work is to help organizations design and implement major change initiatives. His work is published in both scholarly and practitioner-oriented publications, including Public Administration Review, Nonprofit Management and Leadership, The Nonprofit Quarterly, Strategic Governance, Leadership Quest, American Review of Public Administration, and Nonprofit and Voluntary Sector Quarterly. Prior to joining the University of Missouri, David was Principal Consultant for Organizational Innovation and Design Associates. David also is experienced as a senior government executive; he has served as Executive Director of the Metropolitan Council of the Twin Cities and as Assistant Commissioner for Administration for the State of Minnesota Department of Labor and Industry. His career experience includes major research and development projects for foundation, university, government and private sector sponsors. In addition to extensive consulting work, he has served on government advisory councils and as an officer and board member for a number of local, regional, and national nonprofit organizations and associations.